The streets are talking. Awash with the sounds of anger. Listen... you can hear and feel the palpable tone of disillusionment, disenfranchisement and downright tension building.

Hastility (H1) is an album generated by that very same environment – all of the growing, global anger and futility pulsing in our city streets creating the potent beats and rhymes contained within each powerful track. From racial inequality and police surveillance, to substance abuse and mind control, Configa and Hastyle pull no punches in the murky, gritty world of Hastility.

Configa, the UK beatsmith, comes out swinging with a wide range of dark, moody, angry beats that create the perfect tension to fit Queens native Hastyle's every day narrative.

Organized Konfusion's Prince Po, Chino XL and El Da Sensei (of The Artifacts fame) add to the intensity of the certain and direct message being delivered in the face of an uncertain society and future.

Configa's boombap driven production pulls the listener straight inside Hastility's hardcore hip hop world, providing the perfect sonic soundscape for these street chronicles to unfold into.
